Curriculum

Reading: We will continue our unit on research. After we finish researching our class topic, the students will partner up and choose a topic of interest to research. We will also begin our poetry unit towards the end of the month.

Writing: We will continue learning about the research process: choosing a topic, asking questions, finding resources, recording and organizing facts, and presenting the information.

Math: We will be learning about different ways to represent numbers 1-100.

Science: We will be learning about the characteristics of living organisms and nonliving objects. We will also be discussing the concept of interdependence.

Social Studies: We will continue learning about historical figures such as Martin Luther King Jr., George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.
