Curriculum

Reading: We will continue exploring fiction texts. This includes sequencing the story, understanding the problem, solution and reasons for the characters actions and feelings. We will also be starting a unit on nonfiction texts. This includes learning how to use text features and determining the main idea and details

Writing: We will be working on writing stories with a beginning, middle and end. We will continue learning how to sound out words to write phonetically.

Math: We will be learning about measuring length and time. We will also be working on the concept of subtraction.

Science: We will be learning about energy, force and motion.

Social Studies: We will be learning about famous inventors. We will also be learning about how technology has changed over time and changed the way we live and work.
